Description

Antique leather chair with steel swivel base. Channel urban edge with a masculine twist into your interior with the Carlotta Deconstructed Chair. Expertly crafted by luxury homeware brand Andrew Martin, this charming addition is inspired by aviator style with a chic retro vibe. This de-constructed retro chair has a very unusual design with the frame exposed to the underside creating an instant style statement in any interior. Soft to the touch and graceful to the eye, the natural leather will create an earthy texture in your space whilst creating a deep focal point in the room. The design is finished beautifully by a vintage inspired swivel base. Relax in style with this stunning chair perfect for creating a lasting style statement in both classic and contemporary interiors. Please note that due to the beautiful natural properties of this material and construction some irregularities and variations may be present at time of purchase or evolve over time, but these are to be expected and celebrated as no two tables are alike.
