Description

Super stylish black and white checkered side table which will add real impact to home interiors. Complete with stainless steel Moooi branded badge to the underside this table was created by Sofia Lagerkvist, Charlotte von der Lancken and Anna Lindgren who are members of the Swedish design group Front. Front's design objectives often communicate a story to the observer about the design process, about the material it is made from or about conventions within the design field. This clever little decorative table is perfect for just admiring or even playing games on, made from glossy lacquered wood it shimmers in the light and is definitely a collectors item of the future.
