Description

Shapely retro inspired neutral wool rug collection, available in a choice of colours. Complete your interior design scheme in style with a luxury rug from Gandia Blasco. Imaginatively created by Spanish-based architect, Patricia Urquiola for Gandia Blasco, this jumper-like rug collection embodies contemporary charm and comforting appeal. Crafted by skilled textile artisans in India, the Farol Rug forms part of Gandia Blasco's iconic Mangas rug collection. Ideal for traditional and contemporary interiors alike, the Mangas collection draws influence from nostalgic 1970s knitwear. A charming alternative to the conventional rectangular rug, each rug is reminiscent of a jumper sleeve with its rounded middle and ribbed edging. Intricately patterned, this woolen rug features horizontal and vertical stripes with a contrasting trellis pattern which catches the eye and adds texture to the piece. Decorated in a gorgeous array of neutral and vivid colours, it is a fine addition to complete the look of your interior in style.
