Description

Cotton and wood baby rocker from Charlie Crane. This stylish baby rocker is made with love in France and created by a new generation of French designers. Designed by Erick Demeyer and Steven Leprizé, it is an essential from birth to 7 months. Its ergonomic shape is uniquely sculpted to gently rock to the natural movements of babies. Hand crafted from responsibly sourced beech plywood from the forests of Burgundy France, it is varnished with a child-safe coating, making it kind to your little infant and the environment too. Available in a choice of beautiful colours it is wrapped in soft cotton making it a charming alternative to traditional children's rockers. The padded seat has a 3-point harness to keep baby safe and cover is easily removable to wash at 40 degrees C. With its wooden frame and contemporary design, the Levo collection exudes a certain je ne sais quoi which will be cherished for many generations to come.
