Description

Black powder coated table lamp with steel base.

This stylish contemporary table lamp has been expertly designed by Nendo design studio of Japan, and Oki Sato, with inspiration being drawn from traditional architect lamps and reinventing them with a modern twist. With its clean line design, the two exposed joints on the arm offer optimum flexibility to make light work of adjusting and setting the lighting position while adding a decorative look.

Complete with a black powder coated finish, this stylish table lamp offers two light intensities along with a timer function to automatically switch off when desired.

Glare-free with wide light distribution, the white inner of the shade reflects diffused light making NJP a welcome lighting solution for any interior space.
