Description

Matt brass finish sculptural Eichholtz wall lamp with spikey exterior. Turns heads when guests arrive to your home with the Eichholtz Boivin Wall Lamp Matt Brass Finish.

Taking style cues from the iconic profile of the timeless Sputnik chandelier, this sculptural designer wall lamp is inspired by the Soviet Union's Sputnik satellite which was launched in 1957 and was the first ever satellite to orbit the earth.

Reminding us of the angular spikes of mysterious sea urchins, this double wall lamp features a radiant matt brass finish steel construction.

Retro yet modern and stylish, this metallic marvel fixes flush to the wall and is the perfect remedy for dimly lit corridors where it will look great installed alone or aligned in formation for maximum visual effect.

Also available as a chandelier version sold separately in the Houseology Eichholtz designer furniture and lighting collection.

Hardwired: Yes - professional installation recommended.
